Viv Forbes BScApp, MAusIMM, FSIA

Australia

Geologist, investment analyst, student of climate cycles and history. Has spent decades studying all aspects of the geological history of the great Bowen Basin in Queensland. He has seen the evidence of massive volcanism in the ancient coastal ranges west of Mackay, the prolific marine fossil beds near Nebo, the enormous blown-sand deposits capping the hills, the extensive fossil forests of coal, and the evidence of very extensive layers of volcanic ash and more modern volcanic intrusions.

Every one of these changes had big effects on sea levels and climate.

Founder of the Carbon Sense Coalition, www.carbon-sense.com

Non-executive Director of small Australian company exporting coal to Asia and, with his wife Judy, a full-time farmer breeding meat cattle and sheep.

Author of: "Our Sacred Land" and many articles on politics, economics, carbon, climate and energy, Winner of the Adam Smith Award (Australia) and Author of Freedom (Germany).

Dipl.-Ing. Pierre L. Gosselin*Germany*B.S. Mechanical Engineering

Operates climate and energy blog notrickszone.com where he has written almost daily on international climate and energy issues since 2010.

Pierre has been following climate science and renewable energy issues for the last 10 years. His notrickszone.com website features a list of over 700 papers (since 2014!) that dispute the claim of catastrophic manmade climate change, and a list of 50 papers supporting low CO2 climate sensitivity. The notrickszone.com site also has written extensively on the failures and high social costs of Germany's Energiewende (transition to renewable energies).

Prof Jens Morten Hansen*Denmark

Jens Morten Hansen is a geologist, stratigrapher and palaeontologist. Early in his career he studied the biostratigraphy and structure of the Cretaceous-Tertiary in Greenland, Denmark and the North Sea along with sea-level studies of the Holocene. For many years he held a leading position in the Geological Survey of Denmark and Greenland during which period he undertook responsibility for the survey's research in quaternary geology, hydrogeology and marine geology. During 1998-2006 Jens Morten Hansen was appointed Director General of the Danish Research Councils and Danish Research Agency. He has been chairman of the Nordic Research Political Council, Danish Polar Center, and the Geological Society of Denmark (among others). In 2006 Jens Morten Hansen returned to geology and published many papers on Holocene sea-level changes. He also holds a position at Copenhagen University as professor of natural philosophy and science history

Hans H.J. Labohm

The Netherlands

Hans H.J. Labohm studied Economics and Economic History at the University of Amsterdam. After military service, he joined the Ministry of Defence and was posted at the Netherlands Permanent Representation to NATO, Brussels. In 1971, he entered the Netherlands Diplomatic Service and was posted at the Netherlands Embassy in Stockholm, Sweden. In 1974, he returned to the Netherlands, where he held various functions at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in The Hague. From 1978, he was Deputy Head of the Policy Planning Staff, being responsible for, among other things, long-term in-depth analysis and speech-writing. From 1987-1992 he was Deputy Permanent Representative of the Netherlands to the OECD (Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development), and Standing Member of the Development Assistance Committee (DAC) of the OECD in Paris, France. From 1992 - 2005, he was Senior Visiting Research Fellow and Advisor to the Board at the Netherlands Institute of International Relations, Clingendael, The Hague. He is now independent economist and publicist. He was also guest teacher at the Netherlands Defence Academy. He has published many books, articles and papers, mainly in Dutch, but also in English, German and French, on a wide range of issues, primarily in the field of international economics and politics. Over the last few years he mainly wrote about climate cum energy issues.

Christopher Monckton President UK

The Viscount Monckton of Brenchley, MA (Cantab.) , Edinburgh, +44 7814 556423; monckton@mail.com
<https://www.heartland.org/lord-christopher-monckton>

Lord Monckton was an Expert Reviewer for the IPCC's Fifth Assessment Report on climate change and is the author of numerous peer-reviewed learned papers on climate sensitivity and mitigation economics.

His paper: "Why models run hot: results from an irreducibly simple climate model" has been downloaded more often than any other paper in the 60-year archive of the Science Bulletin of the Chinese Academy of Sciences – by a factor of 12.

More than 3 million people have viewed his 2009 speech in the US giving details of the world "government" proposed by the UN in the draft Treaty of Copenhagen. The speech went platinum on YouTube in a week – the fastest-ever for a political speech. In West Virginia on Labor Day, 2009, more than 100,000 attended a miners' rally which he addressed live on a mountain-top. Tea Party rallies at which he spoke in Washington DC and in North Houston attracted 40,000 and 15,000 respectively. His article on climate science in the Sunday Telegraph on 5 November 2006 attracted 127,000 hits in two hours, crashing the paper's website. His speeches at the St. Andrews and Oxford Unions were followed by student votes defeating climate alarmism for the first time in Scotland and England respectively.

Wordpress ranked his summary of the draft Durban climate agreement in December 2011 as having received more hits than any other among its 500,000 blog postings on all subjects worldwide that day. A video of his talk to the Mannkal Foundation in Australia in July 2011 became the most-watched video in Australia in February 2012. A video of his talk predicting the toppling of Australia's then prime minister by climate-extremists a year before it happened became Australia's most-watched video in September 2015. He has given talks on the climate in more than 30 countries. He holds the Meese-Noble Award for Freedom and the Intelligence Medal of the Army of Colombia for his climate research.

Marc Morano

USA

<http://www.climatedepot.com/>

Host of the award-winning 2016 critically-acclaimed movie-documentary "Climate Hustle"; executive editor and chief correspondent for CFACT's award-winning ClimateDepot.com, a news and information service he founded in 2009; a frequent guest on radio and television talks in the U.S. and internationally, including CNN, Fox News, the BBC, and Canada's Sun TV; has been profiled in the New York Times, Esquire magazine, Rolling Stone, and served as a reporter for the nationally syndicated "Rush Limbaugh, the Television Show". He also served as an investigative reporter for Cybercast News Service and as a reporter and producer for the nationally syndicated television newsmagazine "American Investigator." His investigative television documentary "Amazon Rainforest: Clear-Cutting the Myths" created an international firestorm in 2000.

During his tenure as senior advisor, speechwriter, and climate researcher for U.S. Senator James Inhofe (R-OK), he managed the communication operations of the GOP side of the U.S. Senate Committee on Environment and Public Works.

Bienvenido "Nonoy" Oplas, Jr.

Philippines

President, Minimal Government Thinkers, Inc.

Fellow, South East Asia Network for Development

Fellow, Stratbase-Albert del Rosario Institute (ADRi)

Columnist, BusinessWorld, My Cup of Liberty

Author, Health Choices and Responsibilities, (2011)

Author, Liberalism, Rule of Law and Civil Society (2014)

He has written a number of articles in Business World about energy and climate policies, such as: "Climate change and the need for cheaper, stable energy"

<http://www.bworldonline.com/content.php?section=Opinion&title=climate-change-and-the-need-for-cheaper-stable-energy&id=121356>

"I support Clexit because, first, climate change is natural and cyclical, and mainly nature-made not man-made.

"Second, a developing country like the Philippines needs cheap, stable and reliable energy sources. Forcing us to pay expensive and unstable electricity from intermittent sources like wind and solar would mean more energy and economic poverty.

"And third, those many climate bureaucracies, climate junkets, climate loans from the WB, ADB, etc are very expensive and costly to us taxpayers."

Leonello Serva

Italy

Former General Director of the Italian Geological Survey

Member of the European Academy of Sciences and Arts – Class VI / Environmental and Technological Sciences

Member of the Scientific Committee of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) International Seismic Safety Center (ISSC)

Consultant of Global Firms and IAEA for siting related activities of Nuclear Power Plants located in the 5 continents. 40 years of experience on natural hazards and more in particular on earthquakes.

Author of more than 200 publications at international and national levels.

Dr Willie Soon PhD

USA.

Dr Soon earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in science and his Ph.D. in aerospace engineering from the University of Southern California. An astrophysicist and geoscientist, his research interest is solar influences on the Earth's climate via cloud formation, ocean currents, and wind.

He is co-author with Steven H. Yaskell of:

"The Maunder Minimum" and "The Variable Sun–Earth Connection".

He is also co-author, with Sebastian Lüning, of Chapter 2: "Solar Forcing of Climate," in Climate Change Reconsidered II: Physical Science The Heartland Institute, 2013, a comprehensive critique of the Working Group I contribution to the Fifth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change.

Since 1992, Dr Soon has been an astronomer at the Mount Wilson Observatory. He is also receiving editor for New Astronomy in the area of solar and stellar physics. He writes and lectures widely in astronomy and physics and on issues related to the sun, other stars, and the Earth.

Dr Soon's honors include a 1989 IEEE Nuclear and Plasma Sciences Society Graduate Scholastic Award and a 1991 Rockwell Dennis Hunt Scholastic Award from the University of Southern California. In 2003, he was invited to testify to the U.S. Senate and was also recognised by the Smithsonian Institution for a study on bio-geological and climatic change over the past 1,000 years. In 2004, he received the Petr Beckmann award of the Doctors for Disaster Preparedness for "courage and achievement in defence of scientific truth and freedom." In 2014, Dr Soon received the "Courage in Defence of Science Award" from the George C. Marshall Institute which was presented at the Ninth International Conference on Climate Change held in Las Vegas.

Roger "tallbloke" Tattersall

UK

BA (Joint Hons) Hist/Phil Sci, HNC Mech Eng

Roger runs the astrophysics, climate science and energy policy blog 'Tallbloke's Talkshop':

<http://tallbloke.wordpress.com>

This was voted Bloggies 'Best European Blog' 2012 & 2014 and was a final five finalist for 'Best Science Blog' in 2013.

He was a contributor to and editorial panel member of the 2013 special edition of fledgling journal 'Pattern Recognition in Physics', subsequently suppressed as a result of IPCC author complaints to publishers Copernicus, for disagreeing with IPCC predictions.

A co-organiser of the '2015 Paris Climate Challenge', Roger was recently a regional director in the successful Brexit campaign, and is currently helping to organise another counter-mainstream climate conference in London.

Additional Founding Members of Clexit

listed below in alphabetical order.

Arundeeep Ahluwalia

"I like to be associated with efforts to focus on lots of humbug being promoted to politicize climate and swindle poor nations."

Dr D Weston Allen, Gold Coast

MBBS, FRACGP, Grad. Dip Phys Med

After graduating in Medicine at the University of Queensland in 1969 and obtaining his Fellowship in the RACGP in 1975, Wes had papers published in the Medical Journal of Australia (MJA) in 1977 and the Australian Family Physician in 1979.

Wes has taken a keen interest in climate change for over a decade, contributing letters and opinion articles for Australian Doctor and Medical Observer. In 2009, he published a 12-page article distributed by Senator Abetz to all Coalition colleagues just prior to Malcolm Turnbull losing the leadership of the Liberal Party in 2009.:

'Climate Change: the Science, Spin and Politics',

He then authored:

The Weather Makers Re-Examined

- a comprehensive critique of Tim Flannery's best seller.

When published in 2011, Dr Vincent Gray, an IPCC Reviewer, described it as 'the most knowledgeable and comprehensive indictment of the global warming bandwagon.' He has since critiqued other books and articles across the climate change spectrum, the latest being the 2015:

Lancet Commission on Health and Climate Change.

Prof. Dr Ing. Dieter Ameling, Essen

2000 – 2008 - President German Steel Federation and Chairman German Iron and Steel Institute.

Since 2008 focussing against climate policy in numerous presentations, e.g.

"Acquittal for CO2 - Revision of the turnaround in energy policy – De-industrialization can only be prevented in this way".

Dr Charles Anderson PhD

He is author of the books:

Twilight of Abundance

Australia's Defence

Dr J Scott Armstrong PhD

B.A Applied Science, B.S Industrial Engineering, M.S Industrial Administration.

He has taught in Thailand, Switzerland, Sweden, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, Argentina, Japan, and other countries.

He is the author of: "Long-Range Forecasting" and the editor and co-author of

"Principles of Forecasting". He was a founder and editor of the "Journal of Forecasting", and a founder of the "International Journal of Forecasting" and the

"International Symposium on Forecasting".

Franck Audemard*Dr Charles Barnes*Australia

MSc (Adelaide) PhD (London)

Organic Chemist., CSIRO Research scientist (1949-1963); Post Graduate research Birkbeck College, University of London (1951-2); Stanford University (1961); and Imperial College University London (mid-1970s). Industrial Research Manager: CSR Research Pty Ltd, CSR Ltd Sugar Division and Distillery Division (1963-1981); Biotechnology Australia Pty Ltd (1981-6); Travenol Ltd, Baxter Ltd, ResCare, Resmed (1986 - 2016).

"I noticed that early IPCC data showed global temperatures rising and falling over time while atmospheric CO2 rose consistently.

"This does not require climate research experience to interpret.

"Worldwide resources have been diverted to project or predict the consequences of CO2 domination of climate, but no empirical evidence of a connection has ever been made."

Randall Bell LLB, Geelong*Australia

A lawyer who manages legal cases against wind farms.

He has read widely and applied a legal mind to the evidence regarding man-made global warming.

Former Chairman of the National Trust of Victoria;

Former board member of the Australian Council of National Trusts;

Former President of the Victorian Landscape Guardians Inc.

Former Chairman of the Australian Landscape Guardians Inc.

Randall says:

"Initially I was in favour of wind farms but soon realised that our precious coastal landscapes would be threatened. The Trust had classified landscapes especially coastal ones like Cape Bridgewater since 1974. So I investigated further particularly the premise upon which windfarm argument was based – AGW (Man-made Global Warming). Then I realised the fraud.

"Dozens of Landscape Guardians groups were formed across Australia wherever a windfarm was proposed. The Australian Landscape Guardians was formed to deal with the issue at a federal level."

Guus Berkhout*Netherlands

Guus Berkhout has been Professor of Geophysical Imaging and Professor of Innovation Management at The Delft University of Technology for over 30 years. In 2015 he founded the 'Centre for Global Socio-Economic Change' (www.cfgsec.com). Guus Berkhout is a member of the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences (KNAW).

"It is unreal that in the 21st century there is an international war on carbon, spending all our effort and means on one belief. As a geo-scientist I know how complex the climate system is and, despite great scientific efforts, how inadequate the current climate models still are.

The new 'Centre for Global Socio-Economic Change' looks at the validity of traditional convictions in social and economic models. Our key message to research communities, which deal with very complex problems, is that they should be very critical towards the theoretical models they develop: Do not change the measurements to fit your models, but change your models to fit the measurements."

"Using this big data wisdom, the science of very complex phenomena such as socio-economic transitions and climate change becomes an empirical learning process which will help to validate and strengthen the theoretical models."

"In conclusion, the higher the complexity of the system the more important is factual data in scientific progress! Maybe we have to emphasize that in the past widely accepted scientific models turned out to be wrong and, in very complex situations, turned out to be very wrong."

Dr Peter Bloemers

Netherlands

Professor em. of biochemistry Radboud University Nijmegen, The Netherlands

"The evidence against AGW is so overwhelming that responsible politicians must also see it. But apparently they are so committed by the programs of their parties or governments, and by contracts with industrial partners involved in wind energy and CO2 storage in the soil etc, that they cannot possibly admit their errors. Thus they keep lying to the public".

Reg Brownell, MEd Univ of Tasmania

Australia

Businessman and economist, majoring in statistics, ex-director of several public companies.

Reg was one of the group who established the Australian Landscape Guardians 15 years ago.

"My initial interest in the global warming scam arose as a result of the damage being done to our landscapes by wind turbines. I then discovered the damage done to individuals and communities, plus bird and bat destruction by wind turbines.

"I was also appalled at the economic waste/vandalism of renewable energy and the mountains of public funds being wasted in so called research around climate change; the outright lies about the extent of claimed reductions in CO2 emissions; the abuse of science and "scientific consensus", including the evident widespread abuse of statistics, by many scientists and scientific bodies.

"I am concerned about the absence of balance in coverage by most of our media (in particular the ABC); the cowardice and/or opportunism of most of our politicians; and the damage this is causing to standards of living throughout the world, and its implications for communities still living in pre industrial conditions."

Peter Cunningham BE

Excerpt from the abstract of my latest book:

"Carbon dioxide has helped boost green foliage, plankton, nutritive plants and crops yields. Why then proclaim carbon Public Enemy No. 1? Why cutting CO2 emissions, gas essential and irreplaceable of plant life? Why fighting Earth greening? Climate does change with alternating periods of warming and cooling every 30 years. Once natural cycles are subtracted from observations, the anthropogenic contribution to climate change appears well below dangerous levels consistent with latest published climate sensitivity. The balance tilts in favour of the gas of life since moderate warming favours human wellbeing, growth and progress."

Lubos says: "Initially I thought the global warming story was plausible. So I decided to "audit" these matters using the tools of a trained scientist. I was surprised by the inconclusive and noisy evolution of the global temperatures, their basically modest magnitude, the self-evident importance of many natural climate drivers, the uncertainty about the trends in the future, and the lack of proof of negative impacts on weather, the environment, or the economy. The ideology and special interests have been unmasked as clearer forces behind the climate panic".

Dr John Nichol BSc PhD MIP

Australia

Dr Nicol has worked and published in the field of electromagnetic radiation for over thirty years, in particular having carried out, with others, much of the earlier experimental work in very high resolution measurements of the spectra of gases. His interest has focused on the effects of inter-molecular collisions on the behaviour of radiation as well as the transfer of energy and polarisation of the molecules themselves, together with some work in the development of very high energy, pulsed lasers. Much of this has involved theoretical work and experiments in spectral line broadening using very highly stabilised, scanning, dye lasers to provide definitive values of atomic parameters. His current interests are concerned with the effects of increasing concentrations of atmospheric carbon dioxide, with particular reference to calculations of the associated changes of the warming and cooling processes in air, arising from absorption and re-radiation of infra-red radiation at frequencies corresponding to the spectra of the Green House Gases.

While based at James Cook University, Dr Nicol worked at various times in the research laboratories of University College, London and for about three years at the Clarendon Laboratory Oxford.

Founder/director (retired) of the ZWO/NWO Institute of Isotope-Geophysical Research, professor-emeritus of isotope-geophysics and planetary geology at the University of Utrecht, and past-president of the Royal Geological and Mining Society of the Netherlands.

His main research was on the timing of igneous events, metamorphic recrystallization and thermal history in orogenic belts and Precambrian cratons, mainly in Europe and South America, which led to over 150 publications in international journals. His other research interests include the geochemistry and evolution of the environmental systems (atmosphere and climate) of the Earth and her neighbouring planets, on which he lectured widely and published several papers.

"The climate history of the Earth is a history of continuous change. Through geological time the average global temperature remained always within the constraints set by the presence of abundant liquid water, while the atmospheric CO<sub>2</sub> concentration varied strongly. Its rise since the beginning of the 20th century can, at least partly, be attributed to human activities. According to the 'general circulation models' (GCMs) used by the IPCC the ongoing rise in atmospheric CO<sub>2</sub> concentration will lead to significant global warming. However, in these GCMs the (small) net CO<sub>2</sub> forcing is amplified by strong positive feedbacks, particularly from water vapour and clouds. Real world observations and data of the geologic past do not support the role of CO<sub>2</sub> as the principal climate regulator."

B.S. Geology, New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology

M.S Geology, University of New Mexico

Ph.D. Geology, University of New Mexico.

Former Senior Geologist, BP Americas.

Dr Riese is an Adjunct Professor at Rice University and the University of New Mexico. For more than 40 years he worked in both the minerals and petroleum industries as a geologist, geochemist, and manager. His teaching experience includes 31 years at Rice University where he developed the curricula in petroleum geology and industry risk and economic evaluation. Dr Riese's publications have covered topics ranging from biogeochemistry, sequence stratigraphy to coal bed methane petroleum systems. He also holds numerous patents.

Dr. Riese is currently based in Houston, Texas and is a member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists Committee on Resource Evaluations.

He says:

“Having been AAPG’s Distinguished Ethics Lecturer for two years, and having spent three years prior to that working on CO2 sequestration, I was compelled to look at the geologic record, the historical record, and the contemporary observational record of temperatures for the past 120 years. All of these pieces of research led to the same conclusions:

- 1) the climate has evolved continuously throughout Earth’s history;*
- 2) our current global temperatures are still lower than both the Roman and Medieval warm periods;*
- 3) the past 120+ years have seen temperatures both rise and fall; and*
- 4) none of the climate models, on which all these dire forecasts are based, has been able to accurately hindcast or forecast temperatures.*

“Geologists study the environments of deposition for sedimentary rocks, ie. we study climate through time. If geologists can’t comment on the historical record via our understanding of the rock record, then no one can.

“But this was the killer revelation, from a UN insider: “One must free oneself from the illusion that international climate policy is environmental policy. This has nothing to do with environmental policy anymore. ... We redistribute the world’s wealth by climate policy.”
